Agatha Christie is one of the world's most famous mystery writers. She was born in Torquay, England. Agatha was educated at home and did not attend any school. She could read and write by the age of five. During her childhood, she studied singing and took up piano lessons. When she was a teenager, she took up horse riding. She married Colonel Archibald and they had one daughter. She mainly wrote detective and mystery novels. In 1920, her first book The Mysterious Affairs at Styles was published.
